Using this Handbook

In addition to providing practical guidelines for the handling of legal advertisements, this handbook lists the vast majority of the state's statutory requirements for legal advertising notices. These are arranged under topical headings to enable users to identify specific notices quickly.

This handbook is intended only as a convenient means of determining under what circumstances a legal advertisement must be published. Users should refer to the full text of the statute or statutes involved, as contained in the West Virginia Code as most recently amended.

The code can be found at <http://www.wvlegislature.gov/WVCODE/Code.cfm>

The list of legal advertising requirements is the result of a detailed examination of West Virginia statutory law as of April 2018.

Updates will be posted online

This handbook is also posted as a searchable Microsoft Word document on the association's website: wvpress.org. Corrections and updates will be made to the online document as they occur.

Our thanks

The association wishes to thank the staff of West Virginia Secretary of State Mac Warner, who provided invaluable guidance in planning this project as well as research into legal advertising requirements in West Virginia statutes.

Important Notice: Errors and Omissions

While diligent and extensive research went into the production of this handbook, the West Virginia Press Association does not guarantee that the list of legal advertisements contained herein includes all legal advertising requirements under state statutory law, regulations or court orders. Anyone detecting errors or omissions in this handbook is asked to immediately notify the

Public notice: a pillar of democracy

(The following is from the Public Notice Resource Center's "Best Practices for Public Notice" guide. It is reprinted with permission.)

The purpose of public notices is to prevent official actions from occurring in secret. Public notice is intertwined with historic principles of democracy, transparency and open government.

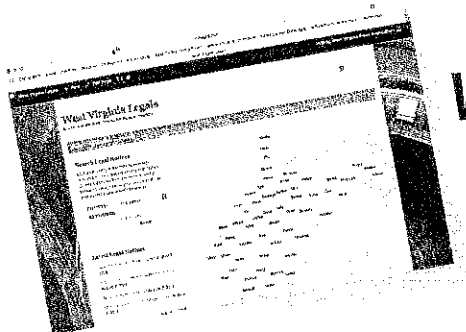

The entities expected to provide public notice do not always consider openness to be in their self-interest. That is why legislatures have consistently mandated that the method of publication is not controlled by the entities whose information is being distributed. Conflicts of interest can be avoided by ensuring that publication occurs independently of the government or public trustee in charge of the notice.

Newspapers are the natural and traditional publications for these notices. As newspapers' own digital distribution is becoming more widespread, questions about the proper use of digital distribution must be addressed. Print distribution is the more practical and reliable method for archiving, reaching key audiences and producing evidence that can be used in court. Combining digital and print notice offers the public the best attributes of both methods.

Many entities are required by law to provide public notice. Virtually all levels of federal, state and local government face public notice responsibilities. So do some otherwise-private parties, such as those who hold or are disposing of private property belonging to others. All of them have one thing in common: they are discharging a responsibility of trust for the public.

Legal Advertising, General

West Virginia law requires the publication of legal advertisements in more than 400 circumstances.

The general law covering the publication of legal advertising is found in state code section 59-3-1 et seq. Included in these provisions are sections that:

- Define which newspapers are “qualified” to publish legal advertisements.
- Limit the maximum amounts that may be charged for publication of legal advertisements.
- Define various terms and conditions of legal advertising.
- Specify remedies and penalties for violation of legal advertising laws.

Descriptions of specific legal ads are found in various sections of the code.

Information about specific newspapers

There are two primary sources of information about newspapers in West Virginia approved to publish legal advertisements:

1. The Secretary of State’s Office. Each newspaper qualified to publish legal advertisement is required to file an annual Affidavit of Circulation with the Secretary of State’s Office. The WVSOS maintains the official list and related data.
2. The West Virginia Press Association (304) 342-1011. The WVPA represents the newspapers and maintains a listing of publication days, rates, county locations, emails, telephone and FAX numbers, etc.

How to Publish Legal Ads

When a legal advertisement must be published

(While most legal advertisements that must be published are listed in this handbook, the list changes regularly)

1. Determine
 - (a) how many times it must be published,
 - (b) when and
 - (c) where.
2. Check the specific, complete statute involved, using the W.Va. Code.
3. Determine what newspaper or newspapers are in the publication area. Contact the newspaper(s) to arrange for publication.
4. Be aware that certain timelines relating to the publication of specific legal advertisements are set by law.

Also be aware that each newspaper has deadlines for receiving material to be published. Lengthy legal advertisements may require extra time for typesetting and composition. Allow adequate time to have your legal advertisement properly published.

Talk with Your Local Newspaper

Whether you regularly publish legal advertisements or do so only once or twice a year, the importance of communicating with your local newspaper cannot be overemphasized.

1. The form in which you deliver the legal ad copy to the newspaper is highly important.

2. Your local newspaper prefers to receive this ad copy in digital form — by email with text pasted into the email or attached in PDF form or other program is the best. Typewritten copy could delay publication.

3. Determine when the copy must be received.

Deadlines — Advance Planning Necessary

In all cases, those responsible for placing legal advertisements should check with the newspaper or newspapers that will be publishing the advertisements to determine deadlines — particularly when holidays or other special circumstances may affect publication schedules.

For all legal advertisements, there are two deadlines:

1. When the newspaper must have the advertisement in hand prior to first publication.

(Most newspapers have an absolute deadline of 72 hours prior to date of publication; however, the safest guideline is to deliver the material to the newspaper at least one week prior to desired publication date. Longer legal advertisements may require even more time for typesetting, proof-reading and correction.)

2. The last date the specific legal advertisement can appear.

Although the publication requirements may vary with each specific legal advertisement, generally the final publication must occur prior to the action involved.

If the legal advertisement is required to be published more than once, the schedule must be backed up accordingly.

An Example of a Timeline...

For purposes of illustration, let's say a Class III legal advertisement must be published in Hardy County, with the last publication date to be at least a week prior to Nov. 10, 2018 public hearing.

The only newspaper in Hardy County is the Moorefield Examiner, which publishes on Wednesday. Thus, to meet the one-week-prior requirement, the final publication must be in the Oct. 28 issue, since Nov. 4 issue would be only six days prior to the public hearing.

A "Class III" legal advertisement must be published "once a week for three successive weeks," according to the law.

Thus, the first publication date becomes Oct. 14.

Therefore, the ad copy should be delivered to the newspaper office preferably by Oct. 7 and absolutely no later than Oct. 12. (Note: Oct. 12 happens to fall on a holiday for many government offices, as do many other dates throughout the year. The governmental office, in this example, should plan to deliver the advertisement by Friday, Oct. 9.

Use caution and allow adequate time for legal advertising orders delivered by mail. An absolute mailing deadline — if no holidays are involved — is one week prior to publication. A safer mailing deadline is 10 days prior to publication.

Preparation of Legal Advertising Copy

Legal ad copy should be delivered to the newspaper in clearly readable form — digital. It is in the interest of all parties — those placing legal ads, newspapers and the public — that such advertisement be error free. All maps or other required illustrations should be of adequate reproduction quality — clearly and sharply defined lines and lettering.

Those who must frequently publish legal advertisements should explore the possibilities of more fully utilizing computerized systems to enhance the process:

- As cited above, copy may be emailed to most newspapers. Sending your Legal Advertisement via email (in digital format as part of the body of the e-mail message or PDF) can save time and provide greater deadline flexibility.
- Particularly when long legal ads are involved, another option in many cases would be to provide the newspaper with the material on an external drive or other medium.

Legal advertisements requiring more than one-column publication, should clearly state the format request. Examples include the following:

- Two- or three-column layout
- In a box
- With a graphic or chart with columns.

Such requirements should be stated in advance with the receiving newspaper or newspapers.

Counting Words and Calculating Costs

Those who prepare legal advertisements using word-processing software should be aware that word counts generated by these programs are usually inaccurate.

Most newspapers charge for legal advertising space under the “set solid” provision of SC59-3, which accounts for any extra “white space.” The total space used is then converted to the equivalent number of words.

The most common method of counting words used by newspapers calls for the following to be counted as one word: any group of letters or numbers which is followed by a space, punctuation mark or “style” hyphen. (Any word separated into two syllables by line-ending hyphens could as one word.)

Maximum legal advertising rates are set by state law, according

Legal Ads Cited in Law

Legal advertisements have been cited in three separate cases heard by the State Supreme Court of Appeals:

■ Mountain Trucking Co. v. Daniels. 197 S.E. 2d 819

The court reversed a Public Service Commission decision on a contract carrier permit; publication of a legal ad was cited as a requirement of the permit process.

■ Grady v. City of St. Albans. W.Va. 297 S.E. 2d 424.

A zoning ordinance was held invalid because of failure to publish a required legal ad.

■ Dennison v. Jack. 304 S.E. 2d 300 (W.Va. 1983).

Cites a properly published legal ad in connection with a trust deed sale.

Legal Ad Check List

(Consult the W.Va. Code and your local newspaper for answers.)

- 1. Section of W.Va. Code which requires the Legal Advertisement:

- 2. What is the class? (How many weeks must it run?):

- 3. What is the publication area?

- 4. What is the newspaper(s) in that area?

- 5. What day(s) of the week is the newspaper(s) published?

- 6. What is the last date on which the final publication of the legal ad described in item No. 1 can be published?

- 7. What is the deadline (date) for delivering the legal ad copy to the newspaper(s) to meet first publication requirements?

- 8. In what form (digital, typewritten, fax, etc.) will the legal ad copy be provided?

- 9. Who will receive the email and attached legal ad copy?

to the paid circulation of a newspaper. However, here are some points which apply to all newspapers:

- The “Class” of a legal advertisement determines how many weeks the legal ad must be published. A “Class I” runs once; a “Class II” runs two successive weeks, and so forth. If there is a “-O” after the Class, as in “Class II-O,” this means the legal ad must run in two newspapers of “opposite politics” in the publication area, unless other code requirements address the issue.

- For legal ads which must be published for more than one week, the rates are discounted. For the second and all subsequent publication of the same legal ad, the rate per week is 75 percent of the first publication cost. Example, if it costs $100 to run a particular legal ad the first week, the additional cost for the second (and third, etc.) week would be $75. Thus a Class III ad would cost $250, in this case. ($100 for first week, $75 for second week, and $75 for third week.)

Legal Ads Are Widely Read

West Virginia’s Constitution requires that the citizens be kept informed of certain aspects of government, particularly those functions involving the spending of public funds. This is the ultimate basis for laws that require the publication of legal advertisements in more than 400 situations.

Failure to publish a required legal can nullify official actions, elections, contracts and other important agreements, projects or arrangements. But beyond the constitutional and statutory aspects, legal advertisements are an important source of a wide range of vital information and are, therefore, well read.

A Public Notice Resource Center report in 2017 — according to readership studies conducted by the National Newspaper Association and Pulse of America — said 81 percent of the people read or look over legal notices in newspapers at least occasionally. More than 21 percent “often” read the legal notice section in newspapers.

The public also greatly prefers having official notices and related information published in their local newspaper, as opposed to the information merely being made available at a governmental office or on a government website. Only 5 percent of readers report going to government websites “very often” and 46 percent report “never” going to government websites.

Notes

Other Facts About Legal Advertisements

- When a legal ad is required to be published more than once, the minimum number of days between the separate publications is six days.

- Legal ads cannot be published on Sundays.

- Newspapers have the right to refuse to publish legal ads.

- If all newspapers in the designated “publication area” refuse to publish a given legal ad, the publication requirements usually may be met by publishing the legal ad in a newspaper outside the designated publication area.

- The law prescribes a writ of mandamus to compel the publication of a required legal ad when any public body or public office declines to voluntarily publish that legal ad.

- In some cases, newspapers are required to provide an “affidavit of publication” to prove that a legal ad was published.

- In addition to the statutes, courts may order the publication of legal advertisements.

Text of Chapter 59, Article 3, as of July 1, 2018:

CHAPTER 59. FEES, ALLOWANCES AND COSTS; NEWSPAPERS; LEGAL ADVERTISEMENTS.

ARTICLE 3. NEWSPAPERS AND LEGAL ADVERTISEMENTS.

§59-3-1. Definitions and general provisions.

(a) As used in this article, elsewhere in this code or in any other provision of law:

(1) "Legal advertisement" means any notice, advertisement, statement, information or other matter required by law or court to be published.

(2) "Publication area" means the area or areas for which a legal advertisement is required by law or court to be made.

(3) "Once a week for two successive weeks" means two publications of a legal advertisement in a qualified newspaper occurring within a period of fourteen consecutive days with at least an interval of six full days within the period between the date of the first publication and the date of the second publication.

(4) "Once a week for three successive weeks" means three publications of a legal advertisement in a qualified newspaper occurring within a period of twenty-one consecutive days with at least an interval of six full days within the period between the date of the first publication and the date of the second publication and with at least an interval of six full days within the period between the date of the second publication and the date of the third publication.

(5) "Publication date" means the date on which a qualified newspaper is first placed in circulation.

(6) "General circulation" means not only a newspaper meeting the other qualifications specified in subsection (b) of this section and circulated among and of interest to the general public in the area in which it circulates, but also a newspaper meeting said other qualifications, the actual circulation of which throughout the publication area is large enough to give basis for a reasonable belief that publication of a legal advertisement in the newspaper will give effective notice to the residents of the publication area.

(b) Wherever the term "qualified newspaper" or "qualified newspapers" is used in this article, or the term "newspaper" or "newspapers" is used elsewhere in this code or in any other provision of law in connection with a legal advertisement as herein defined in this section, the terms shall be taken to mean only a newspaper or newspapers, as the case may be, published (unless otherwise expressly provided) in the State of West Virginia and which meet the following qualifications:

(1) Any newspaper shall be of regular issue and must have a bona fide, general circulation in the publication area. A newspaper is considered to be of regular issue if it is published regularly, as frequently as once a week, for at least fifty weeks during the calendar year as prescribed by its mailing permit; and has been published for at least one year immediately preceding the date on which the legal advertisement is delivered to the newspaper for publication. A newspaper is considered to be of bona fide, general circulation in the publication area if it meets the definition of "general circulation" as defined in this section and is circulated to the general public at a definite price or consideration.

(2) Any newspaper shall bear a title or name, consist of not less than four pages without a cover, and be a newspaper to which the general public resorts for passing events of a political, religious, commercial and social nature, and for current happenings, announcements, miscellaneous reading matters, advertisements and other notices.

(c) Notwithstanding any other provision of this code or law to the contrary, a qualified newspaper shall for all purposes be considered to be published where it is first placed in circulation.

Editor's Note: On the following page – Page 9 – you will see §59-3-3. Rates for legal advertisements; computation; filing affidavits with Secretary of State.

This section of state code outlines the rate newspapers can charge for legal advertising. On page 9, we have used the exact wording from State Code; however, the explanation of rates in that section is confusing. It lists five rates but then states the following:

Section (5) states ... Provided, That on July 1, 2003 and on July 1, 2004 and on July 1, 2005 the allowable rate per word in each of the classifications of qualified newspapers with reference to circulation as set forth in this subsection shall, for each classification, increase 1¢ per word over the prior year's rate.

That “provided” phrase means each rate listed in 1 thru 5 is now 3 cents higher.

To make it easier for your staff, the WVPA is providing the current WV rates (as of 2018) for legal advertising are as follows:

- (1) 7 cents per word if the qualified newspaper has a bona fide circulation of less than one thousand, except as provided in subdivision (1), subsection (a) of this section;
- (2) 11.5 cents per word if the qualified newspaper has a bona fide circulation of one thousand to five thousand;
- (3) 12 cents per word if the qualified newspaper has a bona fide circulation of more than five thousand but less than ten thousand;
- (4) 13 cents per word if the qualified newspaper has a bona fide circulation of more than ten thousand and less than thirty thousand; or
- (5) 14 cents per word if the qualified newspaper has a bona fide circulation of thirty thousand or more...

Please call the WVPA at 304-342-1011 with questions.

§59-3-2. Classification of legal advertisements; designation of newspapers; frequency of publication; posting; manner of publishing.

(a) A Class I legal advertisement shall be published one time, a Class II legal advertisement shall be published once a week for two successive weeks and a Class III legal advertisement shall be published once a week for three successive weeks in a qualified newspaper published in the publication area; or if there is no qualified newspaper published in the publication area or if no qualified newspaper published in the publication area will publish the legal advertisement at the rates specified in section three of this article, the legal advertisement shall be published in a qualified newspaper published outside the publication area; or if no qualified newspaper is published outside the publication area or if no qualified newspaper published outside the publication area will publish the legal advertisement at the rates specified in section three of this article, the legal advertisement shall be posted in at least three public places in the publication area, one of which postings shall be in the county courthouse, at or near the front door of the county courthouse, if a county courthouse is located in the publication area and one of which postings shall be in the municipal office building or municipal office or offices, at or near the front door thereof, if the publication area is a municipality.

(b) A Class I-0 legal advertisement shall be published one time, a Class II-0 legal advertisement shall be published once a week for two successive weeks, and a Class III-0 legal advertisement shall be published once a week for three successive weeks, in two qualified newspapers of opposite politics published in the publication area; or if two qualified newspapers of opposite politics are not published in the publication area or if two qualified newspapers of opposite politics published in the publication area will not publish the legal advertisement at the rates specified in section three of this article, the legal advertisement shall be published in one qualified newspaper published in the publication area; or if there is no qualified newspaper published in the publication area or if no qualified newspaper published in the publication area will publish the legal advertisement at the rates specified in section three of this article, the legal advertisement shall be published in one qualified newspaper published outside the publication area; or if no qualified newspaper is published outside the publication area or if no qualified newspaper published outside the publication area will publish the legal advertisement at the rates specified in section three of this article, the legal advertisement shall be posted in at least three public places in the publication area, one of which postings shall be in the county courthouse, at or near the front door thereof, if a county courthouse is located in the publication area and one of which postings shall be in the municipal office building or municipal office or offices, at or near the front door thereof, if the publication area is a municipality.

(c) A legal advertisement may be published in a qualified newspaper published on any day of the week except Sunday.

(d) All legal advertisements shall be published together in continuous columns on one page of the newspaper publishing them under a general heading styled "Legal Advertisements", unless the number or size of the legal advertisements requires the use of more than one page, in which event the legal advertisements shall be published as near as practicable in continuous columns on as many pages as necessary under the same heading as above required.

§59-3-3. Rates for legal advertisements; computation; filing affidavits with Secretary of State.

(a) The rates which a publisher or proprietor of a qualified newspaper in West Virginia may charge and receive for a single or first publication of any legal advertisement set solid depends on the bona fide circulation of the newspaper, as follows:

(1) Four cents per word if the qualified newspaper has a bona fide circulation of less than one thousand, except as provided in subdivision (1), subsection (a) of this section;

(2) Eight and one-half cents per word if the qualified newspaper has a bona fide circulation of one thousand to five thousand;

(3) Nine cents per word if the qualified newspaper has a bona fide circulation of more than five thousand but less than ten thousand;

(4) Ten cents per word if the qualified newspaper has a bona fide circulation of more than ten thousand and less than thirty thousand; or

(5) Eleven cents per word if the qualified newspaper has a bona fide circulation of thirty thousand or more: Provided, That on July 1, 2003 and on July 1, 2004 and on July 1, 2005 the allowable rate per word in each of the classifications of qualified newspapers with reference to circulation as set forth in this subsection shall, for each classification, increase 1¢ per word over the prior year's rate.

(b) In computing the number of words in a legal advertisement, not set solid, the basis is the size of type in which legal advertising is set by the qualified newspaper making the publication and shall be computed at the legal rate as though the matter were solid type, that is to say, on the basis of eighty-four words to the single column inch in six point type and fifty-four words to the single column inch in eight point type and any other size type in proportion.

(c) In determining the cost of a legal advertisement which is to appear more than once in the same qualified newspaper, the cost for the first publication shall be computed as specified in subsections (a) and (b) of this section and the cost of the second and each subsequent publication shall be seventy-five percent of the cost of the first publication computed as specified in subsections (a) and (b) of this section.

(d) The average bona fide circulation stated by each qualified newspaper in the statement filed by the newspaper with the United States post office department in October of each year shall control the rate of circulation classification of the qualified newspaper for the period commencing July 1, of each year until the last day of June of the following year. On or before November 1, of each year, the publisher or proprietor of each newspaper desiring to publish any legal advertisement during the ensuing one year time period commencing July 1, shall file with the Secretary of State an affidavit stating the average bona fide circulation of the newspaper during the preceding twelve month time period ending September 30, of each year and shall set forth sufficient facts in the affidavit to show whether the newspaper is a qualified newspaper. The average bona fide circulation stated in the affidavit by each qualified newspaper shall control the rate circulation classification for the ensuing twelve-month period commencing July 1, . Any qualified newspaper for which the required affidavit is not filed on or before March 1 of any calendar year shall be conclusively presumed to have for the ensuing twelve-month period commencing July 1, of such year a bona fide circulation of less than one thousand. At the time a publisher or proprietor of a qualified newspaper files an affidavit with the Secretary of State, as required by this subsection, the publisher or proprietor shall notify the clerk of the county commission and the board of Education of the county in which the qualified newspaper is published of the circulation classification of the qualified newspaper and of the applicable rate for publishing legal advertisements in the qualified newspaper during the ensuing twelve-month period commencing July 1, . If the qualified newspaper is published in a municipality, the publisher or proprietor shall at the same time also furnish the same notification to the clerk or recorder of the municipality.

(e) The rate charged for political advertising appearing in a newspaper at any time or times during the time period commencing thirty days prior to any primary or general election and ending the day following the election may not exceed one hundred five percent of the lowest commercial rate charged by the newspaper in which the political advertising appears.

(f) Nothing contained in this section prohibits qualified newspapers from charging less than the specified rates for any legal advertisement or from charging usual and customary rates for notarizing and producing additional copies of the affidavits and statements required in section four of this article.

§59-3-4. Proof of publication and posting.

(a) Any qualified newspaper publishing a legal advertisement incident to any type of judicial proceeding or any provision in a deed of trust or contract, or incident to any other case if required by the responsible party placing the legal advertisement for publication, shall make and furnish under oath an affidavit of publication of each legal advertisement published, showing the number of times it was published in the qualified newspaper, the dates of the publications and the cost of the publications. When posting of any legal advertisement is required in addition to publication of the legal advertisement in a qualified newspaper, the posting shall be done by the party responsible for causing the legal advertisement to be published. In any case where any legal advertisement is not required to be published in a qualified newspaper but is required to be posted, an affidavit of the type provided for in this section with respect to posting shall be made by the party who would have been responsible for causing the legal advertisement to be published in a qualified newspaper had it been required.

(b) The affidavit of the publisher or proprietor of a qualified newspaper required by this section, together with a copy of the legal advertisement as published, constitutes prima facie evidence that the legal advertisement was published or published and posted as stated in the affidavit.

§59-3-5. Mandamus to compel publication.

Any citizen, taxpayer, or the publisher or proprietor of any qualified newspaper entitled by law to have any legal advertisement published in his qualified newspaper; which any county court or tribunal created in lieu thereof, Board of Education, governing body of any municipal corporation, or public officer, shall fail or refuse to make, may have a writ of mandamus to compel such publication, if a qualified newspaper is willing to accept the legal advertisement for publication at the rates prescribed in section three of this article.

§59-3-6. Political advertisements.

In no case involving the publication of paid advertisements for candidates for political office shall the rate charged by any publisher or proprietor of any newspaper be more than the average rate received by him from private patrons for similar advertising composed of reading matter or photographs and requiring the same amount of space.

§59-3-7. Criminal and civil penalties.

(a) Any person who publishes a legal advertisement and who knowingly refused to file with the Secretary of State the affidavit for the fiscal year in which the legal advertisement was published, as required by the provisions of section three of this article, or to make and furnish the affidavit required by the provisions of section four of this article, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and, upon conviction thereof, shall be punished by a fine of not less than $100 nor more than $1,000.

(b) Any person who shall knowingly file a false affidavit required by the provisions of this article shall be guilty of false swearing, and, upon conviction thereof, shall be punished as provided for that offense.

(c) Any qualified newspaper which shall knowingly charge any rates in excess of those specified in section three of this article, and any newspaper which shall knowingly charge any rates in excess of those specified in section six of this article, as the case may be, shall be liable to the person damaged thereby for treble damages.

§59-3-8. Construction of article; repeal; subsequent legislation.

This article is intended to standardize and make uniform certain areas of the law relating to newspapers, qualified newspapers, legal advertisements and publication of a newspaper or qualified newspaper, and to this end all other provisions in this code or elsewhere in law pertaining to such subjects shall be construed so as to conform to and be consistent with the pertinent provisions of this article. As to those provisions in this code or elsewhere in law which are so inconsistent with the provisions of this article as to preclude such construction, such other provisions, whether general or specific in character, are hereby repealed to the extent of such inconsistency. No subsequent legislation shall be held to supersede or modify the provisions of this article except to the extent that such legislation shall do so specifically and expressly. The provisions of this act shall not affect the publication and/or posting of any legal advertisements commenced, in process or completed prior to the effective date of this act.

§59-3-9. Severability.

If any provision of this act or the application thereof to any person or circumstances is held unconstitutional or invalid, such unconstitutionality or invalidity shall not affect other provisions or applications of the act, and to this end, the provisions of this act are declared to be severable.

Sample Ballots and Lists of Candidates

State Code Section 3-5-10. Publication of sample ballots and lists of candidates

(a) The ballot commissioners of each county shall prepare a sample official primary ballot for each party and, as the case may be, for the nonpartisan candidates to be voted for at the primary election, according to the provisions of this article and articles four and four-a of this chapter, as appropriate to the voting system. If any ballot issue is to be voted on in the primary election, the ballot commissioners shall likewise prepare a sample official ballot for that issue according to the provisions of law authorizing the election.

(b) The facsimile sample ballot for each political party and for nonpartisan candidates or ballot issues shall be published as follows:

(1) For counties in which two or more qualified newspapers publish a daily newspaper, not more than twenty-six nor less than twenty days preceding the primary election, the ballot commissioners shall publish each sample official primary election ballot as a Class I-0 legal advertisement in the two qualified daily newspapers of different political parties within the county having the largest circulation in compliance with the provisions of article three, chapter fifty-nine of this code;

(2) For counties having no more than one daily newspaper, or having only one or more qualified newspapers which publish weekly, not more than twenty-six nor less than twenty days preceding the primary election, the ballot commissioners shall publish the sample official primary election ballot as a Class I legal advertisement in the qualified newspaper within the county having the largest circulation in compliance with the provisions of article three, chapter fifty-nine of this code; and

(3) Each facsimile sample ballot shall be a photographic reproduction of the official sample ballot or ballot pages and shall be printed in a size no less than sixty-five percent of the actual size of the ballot, at the discretion of the ballot commissioners: Provided, That when the ballots for the precincts within the county contain different senatorial, delegate, magisterial or executive committee districts or when the ballots for precincts within a city contain different municipal wards, the facsimile shall be altered to include each of the various districts in the appropriate order. If, in order to accommodate the size of each ballot, the ballot or ballot pages must be divided onto more than one page, the arrangement and order shall be made to conform as nearly as possible to the arrangement of the ballot. The publisher of the newspaper shall submit a proof of the ballot and the arrangement to the ballot commissioners for approval prior to publication.

(c) The ballot commissioners of each county shall prepare, in the form and manner prescribed by the Secretary of State, an official list of offices and candidates for each office which will appear on the primary election ballot for each party and, as the case may be, for the nonpartisan candidates to be voted for at the primary election. All information which appears on the ballot, including instructions as to the number of candidates for whom votes may be cast for the office, any additional language which will appear on the ballot below the name of the office, any identifying information relating to the candidates, such as his or her residence and magisterial district or presidential preference, shall be included in the list in the same order in which it appears on the ballot. Following the names of all candidates, the list shall include the full title, text and voting positions of any issue to appear on the ballot.

(d) The official list of candidates and issues as provided in subsection (c) of this section shall be published as follows:

(1) For counties in which two or more qualified newspapers publish a daily newspaper, on the last day on which a newspaper is published immediately preceding the primary election, the ballot commissioners shall publish the official list of candidates and issues as a Class I-0 legal advertisement in the two qualified daily newspapers of different political parties within the county having the largest circulation in compliance with the provisions of article three, chapter fifty-nine of this code;

(2) For counties having no more than one daily newspaper, or having only one or more qualified newspapers which publish weekly, on the last day on which a newspaper is published immediately preceding the primary election, the ballot commissioners shall publish the sample official list of nominees and issues as a Class I legal advertisement in the qualified newspaper within the county having the largest circulation in compliance with the provisions of article three, chapter fifty-nine of this code;

(3) The publication of the official list of candidates for each party and for nonpartisan candidates shall be in single or double columns, as required to accommodate the type size requirements as follows: (A) The words "official list of candidates"; the name of the county, the words "primary election"; the date of the election, the name of the political party or the designation of nonpartisan candidates shall be printed in all capital letters and in bold type no smaller than fourteen point. The designation of the national, state, district or other tickets shall be printed in all capital letters in type no smaller than fourteen point; (B) the title of the office shall be printed in bold type no smaller than twelve point and any voting instructions or other language printed below the title shall be printed in bold type no smaller than ten point; and (C) the names of the candidates shall be printed in all capital letters in bold type no smaller than ten point and the residence information shall be printed in type no smaller than ten point; and

(4) When any ballot issue is to appear on the ballot, the title of that ballot shall be printed in all capital letters in bold type no smaller than fourteen point. The text of the ballot issue shall appear in no smaller than eight point type. The ballot commissioners may require the publication of the ballot issue under this subsection in the facsimile sample ballot format in lieu of the alternate format.

(e) Notwithstanding the provisions of subsections (c) and (d) of this section, beginning with the primary election to be held in the year two thousand, the ballot commissioners of any county may choose to publish a facsimile sample ballot for each political party and for nonpartisan candidates or ballot issues instead of the official list of offices and candidates for each office for purposes of the last publication required before any primary election.
